Yolo jail deputy charged with abuse

By Steve Marschke

A Yolo County Sheriff's Deputy working as a correctional officer at the county jail has been arrested after allegedly sexually assaulting a male inmate at the facility.

The two incidents involving suspect Wayne A. Whitlow, 33, of Sacramento and a jail inmate are alleged to have occurred the night of Sept. 1. For unrelated reasons, Whitlow was terminated by the sheriff's department the following day for "failing to meet department standards" while on employment probation as a deputy. He had worked for the sheriff's department since January.

"The two sexual battery charges stem from two separate occasions where the suspect is alleged to have directed the inmate to a relatively remote part of the facility and under the ruse of a pat-down search touched (the inmate's) genitalia and fondled him," said Lt. John Christe of the sheriff's office. "His actions went beyond the scope of any pat-down search."

Because the two felony sexual battery incidents are alleged to have occurred while Whitlow was on duty as a deputy, he was also charged with assault under color of authority.

"There is no information to indicate there was more than one victim," added Christe.

When Whitlow returned to the jail Monday to bring back some equipment, said Christe, Whitlow was arrested in the jail parking lot at about 1:15 p.m. A search of the former deputy's vehicle turned up a loaded gun and small quantities of controlled substances, said the sheriff's department, which led to additional charges.

Whitlow remained in custody Tuesday with bail set at $100,000. He is scheduled for arraignment today in Yolo County court.

Christe declined to give any information on the alleged victim, but said he "had no information" that the man was injured in the assaults.

City Council to re-tackle firehouse issue

By Steve Marschke

Perhaps the most controversial of tonight's West Sacramento City Council agenda items will be discussion of whether to demolish the former Washington Township firehouse, built near 3rd and C streets in 1940 with some of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's "New Deal" money during the Depression.

The Art Deco-style building has been recommended for destruction by city staff along with the far less popular former sheriff's sub-station and police station next door to it.

Lana Paulhamus and other members of the West Sacramento Historical Society have protested this demolition, claiming the building has historical merit to the city, and have passed out flyers encouraging a big turnout at the city council meeting tonight to get the council's attention.

City council member Christopher Cabaldon said he expects the council to give the matter a serious look.

"We're seriously stopping and taking another look," he commented yesterday. "Whenever folks in the community raise some kind of concern, we've got to. First, we need to look at whether we followed the right procedure (in terms of environmental and historical review of the building), and second, we have to look at whether we're doing the right thing in taking it down."

Cabaldon was asked whether it was accurate and fair for the city council's agenda item described the entire police station and fire station as the "old police station" when the council voted to demolish the buildings.

"I don't think there was any intent to mislead anybody by calling it the old police station, since that was it's last use," he said.

Before moving to their new Triangle Court offices in the past year, the police had used the top part of the old fire station for storage.

Cabaldon added that now, everyone was aware that the fire station is being considered for demolition even if the original agenda item several weeks ago was not clear on that point. But he also hoped that the city could use this opportunity to come up with a better way of protecting its historical sites from demolition and future development.

"That's one thing this has made clear. . . there hasn't been a lot of work protecting our other historical sites. Maybe that's what the historical society can do, perhaps with some support from the city."

Paulhamus, on behalf of the historical society, said she hoped for a big public turnout at tonight's city council meeting. The item is currently listed as agenda item number ten in a meeting to begin at 7 p.m. at 2101 Stone Blvd.

"It is our last chance to save the firehouse," said Paulhamus. "We need to have as many people there as possible."

Local postal worker promoted to postmaster

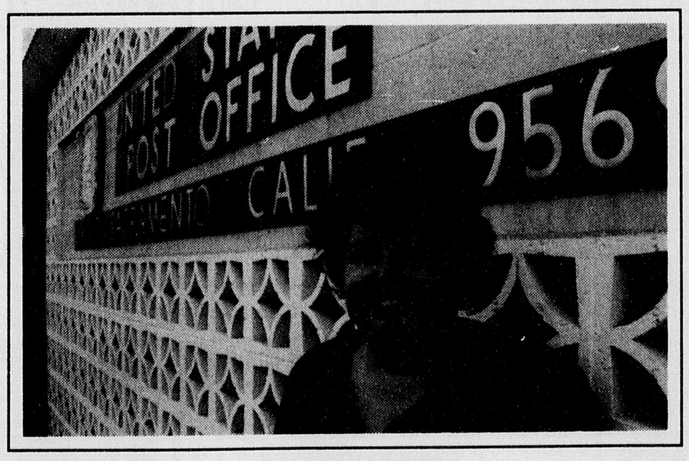

By Steve Marschke

One of the longest employed personnel at West Sacramento's Merkley Ave post office has been promoted out of town.

Jean Sawitzky, the branch's finance clerk, has been named over 34 other applicants to become postmaster in the Delta town of Courtland, in southern Sacramento County.

"I'm a very community oriented person and my kids were raised here, but I just thought maybe it's time to follow a dream," she said of her decision to apply for a postmaster position. The Courtland job was the first one she applied for.

Sawitzky plans to stay a West Sacramento resident while commuting to the new job managing three employees at in the 300-person farming community of Courtland.

JEAN SAWITZKY

"I'm looking forward to serving the town of Courtland," she commented. "I've enjoyed all the people I've come into contact with here in West Sacramento. This started out as a part-time job while I went to college, and I'm still here 31 years later."

Sawitzky becomes Courtland's new postmaster officially on Sept. 13.

Local girl honored:

Service award for Patel

Rita Patel of West Sacramento has been named a 1997 National Service Scholar and awarded a college scholarship of $500 by the Corporation for National Service in recognition of an outstanding record of community service.

The award matches a local scholarship of $500 provided by KXTV Channel 10. Launched last fall by President Clinton, the National Service Scholars program challenges communities and local organizations to raise at least $500.00 for a junior or senior in their local high school, which the federal government then matches. School principals select scholarship recipients.

Patel is among 1,690 first-year scholarship winners announced by President Clinton in his recent radio address on community service. "Next year it will be even bigger," he said. "Our goal is to make this program available in every high school."

RITA PATEL

Patel graduated from St. Francis High School and plans to attend the University of California at Berkeley.

High schools and local organizations interested in next year's National Service Scholars program may call 202-606-5000, extension 293.

Low interest loans for homeowners' repairs —

Type of repairs needed and income level of applicants will affect loan decisions

From Melinda Posner
Community Relations
Redevelopment &
Housing Agency
City of West Sacramento

If you're anything like hundreds of other homeowners, you are constantly adding to your list of household improvements and repairs. And if you're typical of others, your wish list is bigger than your pocketbook. Low interest loans are now available to help make those necessary improvements. If you're a qualified West Sacramento residential home or apartment owner, you can complete substantial home repairs through a loan program established by the city of West Sacramento.

There are no application fees and most types of home repairs are eligible -- roofs, foundations, floors, plumbing, electrical, siding, windows, doors and insulation. Funded by a federal grant, loans from the Residential Rehabilitation Program may also be available for painting and carpeting, if these repairs are required for energy efficiency or health and safety purposes. Qualified applicants must reside within CDBG target areas.

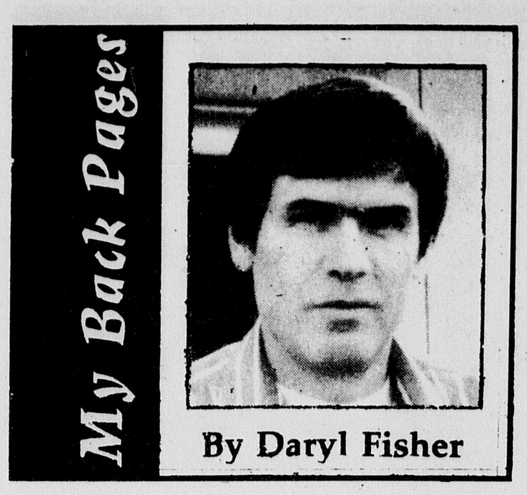

Loans are approved based on the types of repairs needed and the income eligibility of the applicant. Qualifying income levels are adjusted in relation to the number of people in the household. For example, for two person households, the combined income cannot exceed $30,850; in the case of four person households, incomes cannot exceed $38,550. Owners of multi-family units are also eligible for the program, depending on the income of tenants.

Once approved, these home repair loans have very low interest rates, 3 percent for owner-occupants and 3 percent to 5 percent for owner-investors.

"Owner-investors of multi-family units are encouraged to investigate the Residential Rehabilitation Program," suggests Mary Shearer of the West Sacramento Redevelopment and Housing Agency, "to stay competitive in today's rental market."

There are no application fees and most information about eligibility can be obtained over the pone. Eligible applicants will receive an in-person assessment of the repair work needed before loans can be approved. Those interested in the application process can contact the city's consultant, Connerly and Associates, which administers the program. The phone number is 456-4784.

Thoughts on the death of the people's princess

The funeral of all funerals is over. From peaceful St. James's Palace, where Princess Diana's coffin had laid in rest for most of a week in a chapel, to stately Kensington Palace, where the procession began, to stunning Westminster Abbey, where 2,000 invited guests listened to Elton John sing goodbye to England's rose.

The funeral procession itself was almost otherworldly. Millions of tearful English men, women and children jockeyed for a view of the coffin, which was carried on a two-ton gun carriage, the mark of a major British state funeral ceremony. Soldiers from the King's Royal Horse Artillery were there, as well as five representatives from each of Diana's 101 charitable organizations. Princes William and Harry walked bravely behind the coffin and all the horses were as black as the despair which had gripped the entire country and much of the world.

And most of the questions still hadn't been adequately answered. Why hadn't a Union Jack been flown at half-staff over Buckingham Palace before the funeral; why at first had the entire royal family been so indifferent to Britain's obvious pain over the loss of the people's princess; was the heartless paparazzi at fault; was the drunk driver of the powerful Mercedes-Benz sedan responsible; will the arrogant and moribund monarchy somehow manage to survive?

"There will never be another funeral like Princess Diana's," said one of the sad-eyed onlookers to a television commentator. "And the place where she is going to be buried will be our Graceland."

And so it was, for almost a full week, an international media frenzy dedicated to celebrating the life of a caring, almost child-like 36-year-old woman who apparently embodied the aspirations of an entire age. "I'm afraid I just don't get it," I admitted to a work friend a few days after the funeral.

"Get what?" she asked me.

"I just don't understand how this country -- the whole world, actually -- has become so crazed by celebrity. I mean, I'm sure Princess Diana was a very fine person and a great mother, but she also tried to commit suicide, spent years struggling with eating disorders, wasted incredible amounts of money on clothes, loved to hang out with the rich and famous, had her own personal psychic, and apparently believed she could find true happiness with the playboy of the western world. Is she really the one person our culture should be holding up above all others as a role model for our daughters?"

"But you're missing the point," came the reply. "Diana was just like the rest of us -- a work in progress. I think she was also a symbol to a lot of women who are trapped in loveless marriages, or who have over-bearing mother-in-laws, or a husband who isn't faithful. So many people could really relate to her trials and tribulations. She wasn't perfect and her failures were our failures, too."

Later that evening, my daughter showed me an article written by Julie Burchill, a columnist for the Guardian, a London newspaper, which described Diana this way. "Coming from one broken home, yearning to create a real one, she was treated by her husband and his parents with a level of deliberate exploitation, manipulation and deceit that would be dazzling if it was not so vile." Later in the article, it said, "But she did succeed in making a life -- a real, well-lived, well-used life -- and it finally dawned on her that she had a gift for loving and being loved on a global scale."

So, in a very real sense, Princess Diana's life was triumphant. But the way her time on this earth was presented to us by the mass media was nothing short of shameful. From the day of her fairy-tale wedding to the horrific car crash in a Paris tunnel, there were never enough stories, never enough photographs. There were newspapers and magazines to be sold, and great amounts of money to be made. We wanted more of her than there was to give. Sadly, celebrity had somehow become as important to us as it was to those who peddled it for a living.

Strangely, almost as if were a timely reminder from on high, Mother Theresa also died last week. Arguably the greatest humanitarian of this century, this remarkable woman, often referred to as the Saint of the Gutters, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize and spent her long life ministering to the very poorest of the poor. She, too, was truly beautiful, yet I don't think I saw Dan Rather and Tom Brokaw broadcasting live from Calcutta.

The Oakland Raiders let one get away on Monday night as "Elvis" shook the house!

Kansas City overcame a 14-point deficit to beat Oakland 28-27. Ex-49er QB Elvis Grbac threw for 312 but his last throw, a 32-yard touchdown pass to Andre Rison in the last seconds of the game sealed the victory.

The Raiders (0-2) were shell shocked and now travel to Atlanta (0-2) next Sunday. I know I picked the Raiders to win two weeks in a row, but they will beat Atlanta!

Raiders 31, Falcons 10.

The 49ers (1-1) on the other hand played like an expansion team with a rookie QB, but they won!

Rookie QB Jim Druckenmiller threw three interceptions but the Niners' defense was awesome and stopped the Rams cold in their tracks for a 15-12 victory. The 49ers host their season opener next Sunday at 1 p.m. in 3Com Park against the New Orleans Saints (0-2). Steve Young sat out the Rams game with a concussion but should be available for the home opener. Newly acquired linebacker Kevin Greene, who broke his toe, will play but should see limited action.

49ers 37, Saints 10.

The Giants and Dodgers continue at the same pace working toward that big two-game showdown on Sept. 17 & 18 at 3Com Park. The Dodgers lead the division by two games with 18 games left to play and the Florida Marlins are ahead of the Giants by five games for the wild card spot. The Giants won the coin toss, so if the Dodgers and Giants tie for the Western Division title, the Giants would host the one-game playoff.

What has happened to the Sacramento Knights?

The Knights (12-11) have lost eight straight games and are fighting for a playoff spot with Anaheim (12-11) and Portland (10-14). Next game is Saturday night, 7:05 p.m. at the Arco Arena against Portland.

Promoter Don Chargin has a fight card scheduled for Friday, Oct. 3 at the Memorial Auditorium. It will feature the "Night of the Undefeated, Part II." West Sacramento's Willie Jorrin will headline the card. Also scheduled in separate 10-rounders are Diego "Chico" Corrales and Napa's Juan Arias. Tickets are priced at $20, $30 and $40.

See ya next week!

Raider netters: no wins, but strong play —

By Patricia MacDonald

The River City High School Raider varsity volleyball team welcomed Truckee High last Thursday, September 4, and Amador High on Friday, September 5.

Although coming out of the matches without a win, they played solid and competitive ball. The plays at the net on blacking and ball return (a.k.a., "kills") show not only a tremendous amount of talent by Mary Maupin and Marie Vasi, but also skills the spectators find exciting. Junior player Jennifer Munsinger improves every game to a level that her senior teammates can now depend on for back-up. Her blocks at the net assisting either Mary or Marie have become so consistent, I often refer to her as part of "the wall."

The Yuba College Tournament begins Saturday, September 13, through Sunday, September 14. This event is the first of three our Raiders will participate in during the season. You may call R.C.H.S. at 372-5009 for all scheduling information.

The girls that are Raider varsity volleyball play as a team, support as a team, and practice solidarity as a team. Such accomplishments are due to their coach, Cathy Costanza, who gives her all to the girls as a group and individuals, taking time one-on-one. She is a multi-talented educator who is dependable, structured, and definitely "in charge."

Local youth football —

From the West Sacramento Bears

The West Sac Bears joined a new youth football league this year. After bringing home to West Sac two championships in two years in the former league, the Bears have joined All American Youth Football and Cheer. An organization that focuses more on the local area and the needs and concerns of its affiliates. The new league boasts some of the Sacramento valley's best youth football programs; the Sacramento Raiders; Nevada Union Jr. Miners and the Elk Grove Jr. Thundering Herd. After dominating in a league formed of small and newer organizations there were some questions as to how well West Sac would fare when faced with the upper echelon teams.

On Saturday September 6 in Elk Grove, the Bears went to visit the Jr. Thundering Herd. One of their teams had beaten the Oakland team last year to regain supreme in Northern California youth football.

The Junior Pee-Wee was the first of the day. The West Sac Bears' Jr. Pee-Wee's were led by the strong running of Duke Rosales and Danny Valencia. They couldn't break it into the end zone though the Bears defense held tough, only having two costly breakdowns in the first half. Those let the Jr. Herd get into the endzone twice. Giving the Jr. Herd a 12 to 0 half time lead. The Bears defense clamped down hard in the second half and allowed no more points, but the youngest of the Bear teams could not find the endzone and so the final score was Elk Grove 12, West Sac 0.

"We were playing one of the beat" said Bear Head Coach Tom Bacon. "But we hung tough and they had to work hard for it. On defense, I really couldn't have asked for anything more. They really weren't any stars or standouts, they played as a team." The Jr. Pee-Wee's team is young and comprised mostly of first year players. The future looks bright for this team.

Next on the schedule was the Pee-Wee division. The Bears were first on offense but were forced to punt. Elk Grove then took its turn on offense and drove right down the field. When the Jr. Herd arrived on the Bear 10 yard line the Bears awoke from hibernation. The Bear defense beat back the Jr. Herd onslaught and took over on downs to drive out of the hold. After another punt Elk Grove was trying to get out from its own two yard line when Clayton Jones tackled the ball carrier in his own end-zone for a safety and a 2 to 0 lead. It was the same lead that the Bears took into half-time in this epic defensive battle.

In the second half, the tone of the game changed. Behind the 75 yards of rushing posted by Ricky Bandhu, the Bears offense started to roll. Jose Negrete hit running back Aaron Meaux for a touchdown. Negrete also recovered a fumble and Clayton Jones checked in on defense and got an interception. "This was a team effort and we were ready to play" said Head Coach Chuck Meaux. "We played very physical ball and I'm real proud of the whole team."

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Mixed bag of commentary:

Supporters of saving the old Washington firehouse from demolition are keenly aware that they may have stepped on toes among the city council of West Sacramento as they fought for the building's future. But you've got to cut them some slack. Time appeared limited, and the council's responsiveness to their issues could not be guaranteed.

Since no developers or other private parties were eagerly pushing for the building's destruction, however, it really wouldn't have taken much to get the city council to take another look at saving the old Art Deco building near 3rd and C streets.

Perhaps, beginning at tonight's city council meeting, the two sides can begin seeing eye to eye on building a policy regarding all of West Sacramento's historic sites.

Yes, the property at the News-Ledger's long-time location on Westacre Rd. is for sale, as the sign says.

No, the newspaper doesn't come with the deal.

If all goes well, the News-Ledger will soon be in the market for a new and slightly more modern office in the downtown area of West Sacramento. When one is found, you'll be invited to drop by for a cup of coffee.

A couple of quick anecdotes on recent telephone calls to this office:

In phone call number one, someone from the "Office Supply Place" called to volunteer to send a free gift to this office via UPS, asked for and received address information, and said her supervisor would be calling back to confirm that the order was welcome.

The supervisor did call back to confirm the order, adding that her company would be paying all charges for the unspecified gift, and then mentioning that in order to "cover shipping charges," they would like to include several boxes of pens with that gift. Several questions later, the supervisor admitted that there would be a charge for the pens.

The pens were declined (although the slick sales method did not go unappreciated).

A week later, the gift still hasn't arrived.

In phone call number two, a person (obviously a professional fund raiser) called on behalf of the California Police Athletic League (a legitimate charitable organization). His pitch was interrupted on this end with the question, "How much of what you raise goes directly to the athletic league?"

Following a lengthy pause and shuffle of papers, the telemarketer answered that 21 percent of the money they raised last year went directly to the P.A.L.'s charitable programs.

"The remaining portion went to fundraising expenses such as postage, which were high because of the many people who agreed to support the league but did not return their donations promptly after making their pledge."

This goes a long way to explaining why nearly four-fifths of every dollar donated to the California Police Athletic League through these fund raisers last year didn't make it there -- if you accept that the average pledge was around a dime and the fundraisers spent a 32 cent stamp collecting it.

If you don't believe that, you'll have to accept that a lot of money is going into the pockets of professional telemarketers.

Perhaps you'll hear from these folks, too.

Caveat emptor.

Rice Festival cometh

A great, quality event is coming to West Sacramento, presented by a relatively new association that, in my opinion, has its "act together." The West Sacramento Downtown Association is a cohesive, well-oiled, focused organization that will be bringing our community a very important event designed to remind all of us that our downtown businesses have a great deal to offer the residents and employees of this terrific city.

Secondarily, the event gives honor to the agribusiness and commercial transportation community, the Sacramento-Yolo Port District and the City.

The event is called The City of West Sacramento International Rice Festival and it is scheduled to inject yet another positive, electrical charge to our town. As a member of the association, as a resident and as a representative of the business community in general, I am pleased. I was especially delighted, elated, downright giddy when the Downtown Association requested that the festival be held the same weekend as the Chamber of Commerce coordinated 22nd Annual Community Day Parade (Sunday, October 5, beginning at 1 p.m.). The Rice Festival will be held Saturday, October 4, and Sunday, October 5, between West Capitol and Merkley Avenues from Jefferson Boulevard west to where Merkley meets West Capitol Avenue.

What a great melding of festive, pride-filled events as we celebrate the City's 10th anniversary and the Chamber's 50th anniversary. The planning, coordinating and facilitating of these events is extraordinary, the fruits of which will be fulfilling.

Please, folks, mark off your events calendar the first weekend in October and plan to participate in these two community events. Those of you who would like to assist as a volunteer prior to, during and/or after the events, or if you have ideas of what to include in these events, call the Chamber at 371-7042, or the Downtown Associates (Mike Gorman, president) at 371-5800. We'll share your ideas with the committees planning and coordinating the weekend's events.

Saving history

The West Sacramento City Council has an opportunity Wednesday, September 10, to give leadership to protect and strengthen its historical roots. These roots are potential capital for development. The river town of Washington, with its access to River travel, with its salmon fishing industry -- [the beginnings of the Alaska Packers fleet later moving from the River to the annual sailing trips to Alaska] -- and the colorful Prohibition days (by then renamed Broderick) should be more interesting to visitors than most of the suburbs of Sacramento.

Why the rush to tear down more history without evaluation of what if left? The past can help focus what has been up to now a hit and miss tear down and hope that we can lure new industry or commerce.

In addition to the Washington Fire District fire house in Broderick, the agenda lists a number of sites in West Sacramento, and the community of Bryte, which are of historical significance. None of them have (or had before being demolished) been put on a historical register. Note: The agenda does not mention that there is another extant fire house -- a small one of F Street between 4th and 3rd (or there was last spring).

The City lacks a process for studying its historical buildings, its sites and determining priority for saving and setting up a historical district to which buildings can be moved as other communities have had the foresight to do.

The Historical Society, the neighborhood communities, the local organizations the City as a Redevelopment Agency and other interested individuals should be given the time to set up this process and give the developers a more assured future.

Can we find ways to capitalize on our past as movie location? Can we avoid such tragedies as the demolition of the White House which was brought round the Horn by sailing ship?

Fishermen's access

Not too long ago fishermen were able to drive their vehicles through the gate just south of the draw bridge on Jefferson Blvd. They were able to go fishing and even launch their boats in the Barge Canal and Deep Water Channel. A few years ago this came to a halt when the gate was locked and the area patrolled by City Police and Port Police. The reason given for locking the gate was that the Port was afraid of the liability it might incur if someone got hurt by driving their vehicle into the water. Foot traffic was not halted and fishermen were not prohibited from fishing as long as they parked their vehicles outside the gate and walked in to fish. But walking greatly restricted the public's use of the port for fishing simply because of the distance from the gate to the fishing area. There are several miles of port area that should be open to the public but walking limits the availability a fraction of the total.

Upon completion of the Danny Palamadessi Bridge, the previously prohibited area was once again available for public use. But now the Port Police and the City Police are evicting fishermen who use their vehicles to fish in the more distance areas.

I was informed recently by a high ranking city official (who requested anonymity), that there have been instances of vandalism to the construction equipment parked in the area and that this reinforced the Port's position to prohibit the public's access to the area. Upon my observation of the area it appeared that the construction equipment was parked more than 1/2 mile from the water. I doubt that the vandalism is related to any fishing activity. I also believe that the developers of the port area could easily afford private security of this equipment since it is all parked in a very small area and could be covered by a single private security person. It is my opinion that since the public's money was used to build the Port in the first place and continues to subsidize it, that the public has a right to have uninhibited access to the Port for recreation purposes. Especially since there is already access by a private fishing organization and also by the U.C. Davis Rowing Team. If there is a liability problem, I don't' see how it differs from any of the existing facilities on the Sacramento River, i.e., Miller Park, Discovery Park, Bryte Beach Boat Ramp, and many others.

Since we paid for it, we should be able to use it!

The firehouse everyone's concerned about was on the ground floor. The second floor was the justice court and was moved to the new black building on the corner at 3rd and near the bridge, built for the justice court and the health and welfare department of Yolo County.

This new black building was nicknamed "Merkley's Milkhouse" because Allan Merkley was a farmer and a supervisor, first district. . .

I think the building should be restored.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered two feet three inches U. S. guage at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. The California Co-operative Crop Reporting Service in its issue of August 15th advises:

There has been no material change in the agricultural situation since the August 1st report. Weather conditions continued to be favorable to the development of unharvested fruit crops and to the growth of most annual crops. A few warm days were experienced in the interior part of the state as temperatures of 100 degrees and over were recorded, but on the average day temperatures have not been excessvie while night temperatures have been moderately cool. More than the usual amount of fog was experienced along the coast, while in the south-central part of the state a few showers of little consequence occurred.

Night temperatures during the past two weeks have been too low for the best development of rice, however prospects are still good. Irrigated beans are making good progress, while many unirrigated plantings are suffering from drought. Growing conditions for cotton continued to be excellent.

Grapes for table use are now being harvested in considerable quantities in the San Joaquin Valley. The season started earlier than usual and shipments up to August 12th were about 500 cars ahead of last season at this same date. Thompson seedless and Malagas have comprised the bulk of the movement so far, however some Muscats have also been shipped as well as a few Tokays from the Florin District of the Sacramento Valley. It is expected that Thompson seedless will be picked for raisins within the next week or so.

A great many landowners in the West Sacramento District, the Holland District and the Freeport District went to Woodland last Monday morning to hear the recommendations made by the Yolo County Tax Payers League to the Board of Supervisors for a reduction in the tax rate of the county. Indeed, so deep was the interest taken in the hearing that pretty near every large landowner of the First Supervisor District was present at the hearing. The residents of this district were particularly interested in the recommendations made by the league that no roads or bridges be built during the coming year. This was a great disappointment to the farmers of this section of Yolo County because they had been given many promises that the road from River View to Freeport along the river levee would be built this year. The late Supervisor Leinberger had often assured these landowners that the road would be built during the coming year and offered in palliation that the bond issue of one million dollars passed a few years ago had been used but that a direct tax would be levied in order to permit the farmers of the Freeport and Clarksburg districts a means of exit during the winter months. It often happens now that farmers of these districts during rainy periods cannot get away from their homes and it frequently happens that school children cannot attend the public schools because of the condition of the roads.

In this connection a clipping taken from the Woodland Democrat dated August 20th may be enlightening and may be of some consolation to the taxpayers of this district. The clipping reads:

Unless the supervisors are swayed to make a further retrenchment as a result of the twenty-seven recommendations of the Yolo Taxpayers' League which were presented Tuesday to the board, the new tax rate in the county will be $2.80. That sum represents a cut of 15 cents.

County Auditor R. P. Wallace has received no instructions since this week's figures as he is now preparing the items from which the Supervisors will officially fix the rate.

In the "Democrat" of last July 12th, over a month ago, the prediction was made that the rate would be reduced from $2.95 to $2.80. There are no indications today that there will be any further reduction.

A three-inch well lately sunk in the block bounded by 4th and 5th and by Harriett and Mary Streets at the instruction of Joe Pereira to a depth of 130 feet has been abandoned because children of the neighborhood plugged the well with crushed rock, sand and other building materials. This building material was removed by the drillers during the past few days but a greater difficulty was encountered at a depth of about fifty feet where it was found the children had inserted a piece of iron pipe measuring about thirty feet in length. This pipe the drillers were unable to remove so that the only recourse was to abandon the well and start digging another. The new well was started yesterday and will be sunk to a greater depth than the old one and it is expected that a generous supply of water will be secured, sufficient to give the swimming tank on the lot a plentiful uspply.

E. W. Pereira, with his wife and four children, arrived at the West Sacramento Auto Camp yesterday from Ft. Jones, Siskiyou County. They expect to stay a week or more with Mr. Pereira's brother and family and then proceed to San Francisco and other bay points to finish a vacation of a month or more.

M. F. Doyle of the Fifth Street Service Station, with his family, has returned from a vacation of over two weeks spent at Santa Cruz. Doyle is an expert swimmer and before his return from the beach was showing some of the lifesavers near the Casino at Santa Cruz how easy it is to save a drowning person. At any rate he returned to his home here with a wonderful coat of tan and so full of pep that he was scarcely recognizable by his friends.

Joe Marty and wife have returned from a vacation spent at Santa Cruz and have again left home to visit friends and relatives in Winnemucca, Nevada.

Before Judge Barry last Tuesday, three vagrants arrested in the jungles south of the M St. bridge appeared for sentence on complaint of Constable Buckingham. Manuel Bello, a young Mexican about twenty years of age made claim that he was not a drug addict but that he was unfortunately drawn into the company of Tom Mosher and Nettie Hammond, both confirmed drug addicts. These two latter victims of prohibition were recognized by Deputy Sheriff Ogle of Sacramento as being old offenders, Mosher having lately been released from the Sacramento County jail after serving time as a drug addict. All three were sentenced to sixty days in the county jail at Woodland to see if they could not release themselves from the grip of the drug fiend.

Mrs. George Beale and children returned last Sunday from a vacation of a month spent at Santa Cruz. They report having had a splendid time and being greatly benefitted by their trip to the seashore.

Last Monday Constable Buckingham discovered a Chevrolet automobile outside the levee at a point about two blocks north of Rocky Point. The car had been stripped of everything removable even to the tires and rims and had been deliberately turned down the levee to roll into the river after it had been robbed. On account of the low stage of the stream the car failed to get far into the river. The car was owned by Mrs. Clara Goldstein and was registered from 313 K Street, Sacramento. The work of robbery was done during the previous night and no clue has yet been found as to who committed the deed.

Homer Lee, an old resident of Washington, but at the present time residing in North Sacramento, has been laid up at his home during the past two weeks with heart trouble. Last Tuesday his condition was very much improved and he expects to return to his work in the Southern Pacific shops in the near future.

Mrs. J. P. Floris has been extremely busy during the past week making arrangements for a bazaar that is to be given by the Women of Mooseheart of Sacramento. This fiesta will take place on October 18th in the Native Sonst' Hall, and elaborate preparations are being made to make it successful. It is the intention of the women to raise a fund for the California Mooseheart Building and to raise those funds through socials nad other social entertainments. Besides Mrs. Floris on the board of arrangements are Miss Agnes Weedman, Mrs Mary Starkey and Bertha Moer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Riso Jr. have moved from Third Street to their newly completed home on the corner of Fourth and E Streets.

Mrs. I. K. Manchester and Mrs. A. A. Dassonville have returned after spending a few days visiting relatives and friends in Tres Pinos. They were accompanied on the trip to Tres Pinos by the Misses Joyce and Helen Kiff, who reside in that city.

Mrs. A. L. Case will have charge of the second grade of the Washington School, when it reopens in September, until Miss Hilda Watkins returns from Europe, where she is detained by the sickness of her father. Miss Watkins is the regular teacher.

Mrs. C. E. Korell and daughter, Miss Neville Korell, have left for Stinson Beach to spend several days on a pleasure trip.

Mrs. R. P. George, assistant postmistress of Washington, and her daughters, Mary and Gwneth, are spending a vacation at Santa Cruz and San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lear have left for Henderson Springs where they will remain two weeks on a pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Travis of Watsonville are visiting in Washington as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Baglin.

WASHINGTON BOOSTERS' CLUB WILL NOT MEET NEXT TUESDAY ON ACCOUNT OF ELECTION

Owing to the fact that next Tuesday is election day and that the election board will be busy counting votes in the town hall it was decided last Tuesday evening that no meeting would be held on that date.

The meeting last Tuesday was made interesting to those present by the appearance of Eli Fourness, candidate for supervisor from this district of Yolo County.

After the regular business of the club was transacted, Mr. Fourness was given an opportunity to tell the members what he proposed doing if elected to the position.

He was given a very attentive hearing and thoroughly explained what he intended to do as well as telling those present what he had done for the citizens of the community and for the town of Washington during his many years of residence in this section.

Fourness has been trustee of Reclamation District No. 875 for several years and pointed to the fact that as such trustee he voted to give the town of Washington $1,000 to help in the raising of the Front Street levee which was up for consideration a few years ago.

He also advised those present that he had been mainly instrumental in the building of the town hall and in forming the first volunteer fire department. He claimed credit for promoting the construction of the county highway between the Southern Pacific bridge and Riverbank.

Another new member of the club was John Grote, who advised those present that another automobile camp is about to be started on the McClatchy place north of town and that it would be equipped with all the modern conveniences that go to make camp life comfortable. Grote and Fourness promised to join the club and help along in the deliberations as well as the work of the organization to boost the town.

The secretary of the club reported that a written complaint had been made to the State Board of Health about the nuisances that threaten the sanitation of the town and which are located on the river between the two bridges. This complaint is to be used by the Board of Health in forcing authorities on both sides of the stream to take action for the removal or remedying of those nuisances.

The recommendation made by the club sometime ago that a watchman be placed by the Board of School Trustees to take care of the public school building at least until after vacation period had not been acted upon so far as the committee in charge was able to ascertain. As secretary of the school trustees, Fred White was reported to have gone to Woodland to place the question before the Board of Supervisors so that the tax levy might be corrected to provide the employment of a night watchman for the public school building.

At a previous meeting it was decided that the members of the club who had been out of town on their vacations should give an account of their wanderings on their return. Responding to the invitation last Tuesday night Mrs. J. McNevin gave an interesting talk on the wonderful time she had at Santa Cruz, while Joe Pereira described his trip to Siskiyou County in an eloquent manner.

Perhaps the most interesting recital was that made by Mrs. A. M. Cameron who not only told where she had been during her vacation but had a written account of the trip she and her husband made, first, down through the Mother Lode to San Andreas, Moaning Cave at Vallecita, the Calaveras Big Trees and other points of national interest in the locality. From the Big Trees they went to Murphy's and Silver Lake, and thence over Ebert's Pass and Kit Carson Pass to Lake Tahoe, where they stayed several days. From there they went to Mono Lake, Eagle Falls and Carson Valley and Bridgeport. Then down over Tioga Pass at an elevation of 9941 feet via Tuolumne Meadows and into Yosemite Valley. At Camp Curry they spent several days, after which they proceeded to Santa Cruz.

Other members of the club will be invited to make similar recitals on future occasions.

CHARGE OF ASSAULT AGAINST JACKSICH DISMISSED

Before Judge Barry last Saturday Jerry Jacksich appeared under a charge sworn to by A. V. Nunes of the Lisbon district for attempt to commit murder.

From testimony given at the trial it appears that Nunes has been allowing his stock to run on the alfalfa field of Jacksich and various protests have not been effective in holding Nunes' stock out of Jacksich's alfalfa field. When protest was made by Jacksich it appeared that Nunes threatened him with a shovel and was accompanied by Frank Mattos armed with a club.

Jacksich fearing bodily harm ran to his automobile where a shotgun was lying and picking up the gun made a motion to defend himself.

Nunes and Mattos made a quick retreat although the gun was not loaded.

District Attorney George T. Kern prosecuted the case while the defendant's case was held by Martin I. Welsh of Sacramento.

After considering the testimony of several witnesses, Judge Barry decided that Jacksich was not guilty of the assault claimed and dismissed the case against him.

J. E. Lynn, director of the board of education of Sacramento, moved that the use of the high school be permitted the Methodist Church for an entertainment at which admission would be charged.

And yet Lynn is the only Catholic on the board.

HENRY LEINBERGER WILL CELEBRATE 94TH BIRTHDAY NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday, August 26th, Henry Leinberger will celebrate his 94th birthday at his home in Washington.

Although past the allotted time of three score and ten Leinberger is still hale and hearty and as an evidence of his physical condition it might be said that last Wednesday he made a trip with his grandson, Walter Leinberger, on a heavy truck more than 100 miles.

Henry Leinberger is still deeply interested in the butchering business in which he has been engaged for over sixty years. Walter had occasion to go to Clarksburg early in the morning to take to the slaughter house in Washington a load of young calves. His grandfather accompanied him.

Delivering the load at the slaughter house, they started again for Knights Landing and after taking up a load of stock from the ranch of Supervisor Frank B. Edson, they returned to Washington before sundown.

Although Walter Leinberger is a young, hearty man, he was tired on returning from this long trip and yet his grandfather, nearly 94 years of age, made no complaint after this strenuous trip.

Henry Leinberger still reads the daily paper just as regularly as he eats his meals. Never a day passes that he does not make his regular rounds of the business being particularly interested in the work at the slaughter house. While he does not actually engage in the work, he sees that it is properly done and that the premises are properly guarded and kept in sanitary condition.

Nearly every day he crosses the bridge to Sacramento to visit his old friends and seldom does he use any conveyance. He walks the distance without trouble.

Leinberger was born in Germany but came to this country at an early age, where he engaged in butchering in the eastern states.

Coming to California when Yolo County was yet a wilderness and no levees were built along the Sacramento River, he engaged in stock trading for over sixty years and his many friends are wishing him well and hoping that he may continue to pass the century before relinquishing the good things of life.

Dixon, Aug. 20.—The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has approved orders for the expenditure of $973,400 for the construction and extension of the 220,000-volt double circuit tower line from Vaca-Dixon Substation to the site of the new Contra Costa substation in the vicinity of Antioch.

The new line will be 29.1 miles in length, with one circuit at present except at the crossing of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, where two circuits will be installed.

This line is a part of the extension which will ultimately run from the Vaca-Dixon substation to Sunol or Newark; the latter portion of which will be required in the near future.

property to former owners and paying $1 million "damages" and that's not enough for the former owners, factor in the cost of removing substandard structures, etc. But perhaps most important: MAKE SURE THIS "GIVING BACK" IS TREATED AS A SALE/RESALE...THIS WAY COUNTY ASSESSOR CAN ASSESS SUBJECT LAND AT $41 PER SQUARE FOOT THAT THE SACRAMENTO COUNTY COURT RULED SAID LAND IS WORTH -- REGARDLESS OF ITS CONDITION...YES, THIS COULD SET A PRECEDENT: THOSE WHO ALLEGE THEIR BLIGHTED PROPERTY IS WORTH SO MUCH MORE THAN THEY PAID FOR IT (AND HERETOFORE CHOSE TO "JUST SIT ON IT INDEFINITELY WITHOUT IMPROVING IT, HOPING TO SELL IT SOMEDAY AT A BIG PROFIT AND MEANWHILE COSTING NEIGHBORING TAXPAYERS MUCH MORE TO POLICE IT BECAUSE OF THE DRUG TRAFFIC, ETC. -- NOT TO MENTION THE LOWERED RESALE PROPERTY VALUES ON NEARBY PROPERTY) WOULD FINALLY HAVE A CHANCE TO PUT THEIR MONEY WHERE THEIR MOUTHS ARE...THEY WOULD FINALLY PAY TAXES BASED ON WHAT THEY SAY IT'S WORTH! Now what could be fairer than that?

Stocks and bonds are quite the same, coming from the same issuer with same category. But land is quite unique as there are so many variables affecting said values. The law should be changed to reflect the preceding, even if it takes another proposition state-wide to modify Prop. 13, etc. The time has come to end nearly two decades of protecting owners of eyesore property from financial and social responsibility. It is time for them to put up or shut up and quit being an impairment to community improvement.

Names, addresses and phone numbers of substandard property should posted so public knows who is so proud of their blighted land.

season with a convincing 34-8 victory over the Elk Grove Thundering Herd. The decisiveness of the win surprised many, as most observers projected Elk Grove as the top team in the Bears' new league, the All American Youth Football League.

Coaches Jeff Winn and Brian Castro credited much of the Bears' success to a "dominating" offensive line, led by Tommy Guerra, Keith Fallon, Jerry Harris, Mike Fonbuena and Nick Van Dyke. Behind this line, Stephens amassed 157 yards on 11 carries and butcher garnered 111 yards on 15 carries.

The staunch defense, buoyed by Josh Bush, Guerra, Butcher, Washington, Hindjosa, Molina...held the hero scoreless for over three quarters and continually thwarted their high-powered offense.

The other West Sacramento football squads also enjoyed varying degrees of success. The Jr. Pee-Wees lost a hard-fought battle, 12-0. The Pee-Wees won an exciting game in convincing fashion, 16-0. The Midgets, the oldest of the Bears' teams, won their contest, 18-6, giving the West Sacramento Football League a 3-1 overall record against the various Elk Grove contingents.

The Folsom Bulldogs visit West Sacramento next week in the Bears' home opener of the 1997 season. The Jr. Pee-Wees play at 9 a.m., the Pee-Wees at 11 a.m., the Jr. Midgets starting time is 1 p.m., while the Midgets game is scheduled for a 3 p.m. start.

All games will be at the River City High School football field.

The last game of the day pitted the Midget teams against one another. At this point there was some surprise at how well West Sac was doing against Elk Grove. This was an important game for both sides.

Scoreboard: Bears 18, Jr. Herd 6. "Our offensive struggled at times, I have a lot of first year players, but this team has heart." Coach Blevins' defense standouts included Mitchell, Cid Vasquez, Aaron Coen, and Oscar Gaeta. Also defensive lineman Roberts Rodriguez, Nick Santillano and Juan Robinson (who blocked a punt).

The season is just started, but already other teams are starting to take note of West Sac. Catch them at home this Saturday at River City High School as they host the Folsom Jr. Bulldogs.

Game times are: Jr. Pee-Wee, 9 a.m., Pee-Wee, 11 a.m., Jr. Midget, 1 p.m., and Midget at 3 p.m.
